Our screen will be based on the concept of differential etiologic patterns of SIDS in different populations. The project will screen a cohort of male and female infants who have died from SIDS, and a cohort of age-matched controls who died from other causes by establishing the relative frequencies of heterozygous deletions involving the short arm of chromosome 8 using fluorescent in situ hybridization (FISH) on intact nuclei. The chromosomal region in question is commonly deleted in SIDS families. Our hypothesis is that these deletions arise from meiosis II non-disjunction. We will examine 8 potentially informative families, including both SIDS cases and controls, for each of the C and D sub-regions of chromosome 8, for total deletion of all 8 sub-regions (8-jct) and for restriction fragment length polymorphism (RFLP) patterns of the 8-jct. Analyses of the parental origin of the deletions will allow us to determine whether non-disjunction is mitotic or meiotic. This would provide information about the relative risk of SIDS in children of both sexes in each population. In addition, the data will enable us to determine the temporal relationship between the deletion and SIDS by examining the same mothers in consecutive pregnancies. Our long-range goal is to design prenatal diagnostic screens which will identify all chromosome 8 deletions and duplications in both fetal blood and cultured chorionic villi cells in a single slide; the efficacy of these tests will be tested on cultured cells obtained by chorionic villus sampling. We will also test for maternal uniparental disomy using informative polymorphic loci

I would like to know how should I do this or if this is possible? I know about Task.Factory.StartNew but how about for constructor call? Any suggestions would be appreciated. A: From the MSDN documentation DbContext is an abstract class for managing a database. It represents a unit of work within the application. This 6d1f23a050
